NGEurope. Why this project?

- NGOs play a very important role on the sustainability of a community;
- NGOs are seen as an effective way to solve community problems and even to train and educate the population.
- This importance is well documented by several studies and is recognized by the European Union.

NGEurope. Importance of NGOs

"NGOs have become essential actors in the social field, particularly in the fight against poverty and social exclusion"

(European Commission)

"The Governmental and quasi-governmental mechanisms at all levels should ensure the effective participation of NGOs without discrimination in dialogue and consultation on public policy objectives and decisions"

(Council of Europe)

"Small non-profit organisations can have specialised and personalised impact both on local and international levels"

(JETT PHC's health coaching program)

NGEurope. Importance of NGOs

- Despite its documented importance, in many European countries the population still does not perceive NGOs as having an important role in their daily life or in the sustainability of the community.

NGEurope. Civic Participation in Europe

Countries like Romania, Greece, Bulgaria, Portugal e Cyprus claim that European citizens don't need NGOs.

(European Economic and Social Committee, Flash Eurobarometer 373, 2013)

Even though civic participation in NGOs is common in European countries like Denmark (61% of citizens), Finland and Sweden (both 54%), the majority of Europeans is not a member of an NGO or an association.

(European Economic and Social Committee, Flash Eurobarometer 373, 2013)

NGEurope. Civic Participation in Europe

Volunteering rates are important indicators on how a specific population perceives the importance of participating actively in their community.

The number of people volunteering in European countries (on average) is still very low, at 24%, with several countries with even lower rates.

Data sources: Survey on Volunteer Work 2012 (PT); Eurobarometer 2011 (other Member-states).

We need more and better
Civic Participation!!

NGEurope. How does this project help?

- Civic movements and NGOs depend a lot on their leaders' motivation and passion but their success and sustainability depend on specific set of skills such as leadership, communications and management.
- NGEurope pretends to foster civic participation across Europe, demonstrate its positive impact in society, and capacitate a new generation of NGO leaders with these important skills.

Survival guide for NGO Founding and Funding

This “step-by-step” guide aims to help citizens create their NGO in an informed way; it explains the legal and practical requirements for founding and running an NGO.

It includes a section devoted to funding and some “survival” tips from experienced associative leaders.

In short, this document can be considered as a starting point for associative leaders who seek to start their own project

Policy paper

The policy paper is aimed mainly at a higher, decision-making level.

It addresses the main findings of the project, provides evidence and discusses why a change of NGO policy approach might be relevant; the policy options available and the pros and cons of each option; and the impact and value for money resulting from NGO action.

This policy paper also recommends a course of action based on the experiences and lessons learned in the course of the NGEurope project.

NGEurope. Training

Training Course on Green and Social NGO Leadership

For each module the all the presentations, notes and materials needed to minister the group dynamics and the lesson plans with instructions on 'how to teach the module' are available.

Any person or entity interested in learning or minister this training course independently can visit the project's website (www.ngeurope.net) and download the contents.

Training Course on Green and Social NGO Leadership

The objective of this course is to share some practical knowledge about how to manage an NGO, identify the skills needed to be a successful NGO leader, and provide important tools to those looking to start a new project.

But mainly it aims to motivate and inspire the participants to get involved in their community and become role models as NGO leaders.

NGEurope. Multiplier Events

Seminar “Civic and Associative Action”

This two-days seminar includes a field visit to an NGO where the participants have the opportunity to observe the backstage and understand what it takes to manage these entities.

The seminar also includes conferences where examples of good practices and innovative projects in the NGO sector are presented. The participants have the opportunity to know first-hand the history, motivation, difficulties and opportunities created by the NGOs and of course the impact on their communities.

NGEurope. Multiplier Events

Seminar “Civic and Associative Action”

Events like this allow the participants to get to know new and innovative projects and NGOs, broaden their network, make new partnerships and share experiences and ideas.

These seminars aim to motivate everyone to get more involved in their community and to inspire new ideas and projects.

NGEurope. Conclusion

With better leadership and more civic participation, communities can be empowered to solve their social and environmental problems and become more resilient.
